The enorted to dilatory tactics in the hope that the rain would put a stop to the proceedings, though aside from a few drops falling there was nothing doing in this respect. Manager Fohl's players may have had a temperary letdown, but it appeared that they felt that there was no use to put forth efforts now that Speaker is not there forts now that Speaker is not there for a while, at least.

of continuing in the pennant the accident to Speaker having ed them of their confidence, was impression created by their playing in the game yesterday. The enteam seemed at sea and after the onals had rolled up nine runs resid to dilatory tactics in the hope the rain would put a stop to the with five defeats.

Griffith has promised Jim Shaw he may pitch a game here. The big fellow seems to have all his stuff now, and is anxious to be given a chance as soon as possible. With Shaw and Dumont rounding to form, and Johnson, Harper, Gallia and Boehling able to pitch, the Griffmen may yet have a good western trip, although it started with five defeats.

Nationals should succeed in making a clean sweep of the remainder of the series, for Griffith's team is hustling again.

Joe Boehling is likely to be Manager Griffith's choice for today's game, while either Coveleskie or Morton will do the work for the Indians. It is more likely to be the former, however, for Morton is suffering with a lame arm and may not be fit to pitch, though he is taking his turn at batting practice every day. At any rate, it matters little which one of the Indians is sent to the mound, for Boehling, when he is in form, always beats the Fohl team.

Just what Griffith intends to do with Maurice Craft is not plain. He is letting him pitch to the batters every other day, and he seems to have fairly good stuff, but, of course, he is using nothing but speed, and there is no telling how he would fare if he were put in the game. He also had a look at him in the outfield, and he seemed to know something about fielding, but he has not shown anything with the stick because he has not faced good pitching. He hits fairly well in practice, but that does not count for much, for the pitcher tries to put them straight over all the time.

The Bureau and Steel Plant teams fought through seven innnings yesterday to a 4-to-4 draw in the Potomac League. Steel Plant got four counts in the opening period and Bureau made four in the second, but after that the pitchers of both clubs settled down and neither team could get over the plate the run necessary to win. Bureau outhit the Steel Plant, but could not bunch it easier except in the inning in which it scored its runs.

Two players on each club got three hits, Koogle of Bureau and Sill of Steel Plant connecting for that number. Only one of the six safeties made by these two went for an extra base, a two-bagger going to the credit of Koogle. Zachary did some splendid fielding at second base for Steel Plant, handling eleven chances. Five of the plays were assists. Sill also did some nice work at third for Steel Plant.

Francis of Reformation proved too much of a slab artist for the Baptists in the East Washington Sunday School circuit, blanking that club by 8 to 0. Only three hits were made off him and they were scattered. The hard-hit balls by the losing club were few and far between. Penn, who played first base, got two of the Baptists' safeties. Two of the Reformation players had perfect records at bat, Collins making two hits out of two attempts and Neitzey three out of as many trips to the plate.
